

Air Service to Los Angeles to Start August 1

Contract Let for Four Twin-Engined Planes That Will Carry 48 Passengers

Tickets Are $5,000 Each

Three Have Booked Passage, Says Lieut. Wesley A. Hill, Head of New Company

The first transcontinental passenger carrying aerial service will be inaugurated about August 1, when four twin engined airplanes will attempt the flight with forty-eight passengers from New York City to Los Angeles, Cal.

This fact was announced yesterday, immediately after the Apache Aerial Transportation Company signed the contract with the Glenn L. Martin Company for the delivery of the airplanes.

The deal also disclosed for the first time the incorporation of the Aerial Transportation Company by Lieutenant Wesley A. Hill, of Phoenix, Ariz. The operating establishment of the company involves an outlay of $652,000.

The contract for delivery of the airplanes was signed yesterday at the Aeronautical Exposition by Lieutenant Hill and Glenn L. Martin. The former is an old Rough Rider, and was a close friend of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

Three Passengers Booked

Lieutenant Hill has just received his discharge from the United States Tank Corps. The lieutenant, discussing the plan, said:

"We have already booked three passengers, who are paying $5,000 each for the trip, and I have received applications from several others. "Steps will be made at Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, and also cities along the Southern route. Army landing fields will be used in all these cities.

"On arrival at Los Angeles we propose to establish a regular aerial passenger service between that city and San Diego, and another service between Los Angeles and Riverside, Cal.

"In the last two months we have made exhaustive studies of the operations, and we have formulated a schedule of times and rates which we feel will give us a handsome return upon the capital invested.

"As soon as we have convinced the public of the dependability and safety of air travel, we will open another scheduled aerial passenger service between Los Angeles, Cal., and El Paso, Tex., over a distance of 1,200 miles, which will be done in the air in nine hours, as against twenty-two hours by train.

Will Sell Through Tickets

"This will be the first leg in the proposed permanent transcontinental air passenger service. Another company will be organized to transfer the passenger to the Middle West, and still another to carry them to New York, but a through ticket will be sold for the entire trip."

The planes being built for the Apache Aerial Transportation Company are exactly the same as the famous Martin "All-American bomber" built for the United States Government. They have two 400-horsepower Liberty motors. They hold seven passengers and the planes have a wing spread of 72 feet and an over-all length of 45 feet.

Mr. Martin, the designer, said: "The government is watching the plan with interest, because we have found it possible to adapt the bomber to passenger service without interfering with its military design.

How They Will Sit

"We have found it possible to use the same fuselage by building in two seats in the nose of the machine, where the aerial gunners are now established. The pilot and mechanic will sit side by side. In the rear of the fuselage eight seats will be fitted in for the remaining passengers.

"In place of the military load of bombs, the planes will carry a load of 4,000 pounds, or taking into account the fuel, they will be capable of carrying a useful load of 2,500 pounds, passengers and freight."

In the Los Angeles-San Diego and Riverside service the company proposes to carry 100 passengers of mail each trip in addition to the passengers and their baggage.

The passenger seats will be enclosed in a limousine body, which will be built in such a manner as not to interfere with their view of the country.

Colorado Republicans Open Wood Presidential Boom

DENVER, March 13.—Thirty-eight prominent Colorado Republicans today filed articles of incorporation of the "Leonard Wood Republican Club of Colorado," the object being to promote the candidacy of the commander of the central department of the army for the Republican nomination for President next year.

Leaders in the organization said today that many Republican leaders throughout the Rocky Mountain states have agreed to form similar organizations.

Nine of the fourteen Republican Senators of the Legislature are included in the list of incorporators.

Fownes Filolette. American-made and Fownes quality. The suede-finished fabric glove—superior to any formerly imported. You will appreciate its beauty, Washable, durable, kid-fitting.

FOWNES FILOLETTE

"Reds" Execute Kin of Old Russian Officers

STOCKHOLM, March 13.—All the relatives of officers of the 86th Russian Regiment, which went over to the White Guards as against the Soviet government, have been executed, according to a dispatch from Petrograd. The executions were ordered by the Military Revolutionary Committee of Petrograd.

A number of well known Russian officers, it is added, also have been executed after being convicted of charges of having spread false rumors regarding the Soviet government.

Wood Presidential Boom Is Launched in Colorado

Republican Club Organized; To Be Extended Throughout Rocky Mountain District

DENVER, March 13.—Republicans of Colorado took the first step yesterday in crystallizing sentiment for the expected candidacy of Major General Leonard Wood, for President of the United States by incorporating to-day the Leonard Wood Republican Club of Colorado. The incorporators include a score of prominent Republicans, many of whom are identified with the Progressive wing founded in 1912 by Colonel Roosevelt.

Promoters of the movement plan to extend the movement throughout the Rocky Mountain district. Leaders in Idaho, Wyoming, South Dakota, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona have been asked to organize similar clubs in their states.

Active in the formation of the new club are: John F. Ivison, former state chairman of the Republican party; the progressive wing of the party; Samuel D. Nicholson, of Leadville; Frank C. Coudy and J. S. Temple, of Denver.

There are thirty-eight charter members, including nine of the four Republican state Senators, and others who have been prominent in the party history of Colorado.

Hays in Chicago to Open Republican Quarters

"Listening Post" Will Be Formed to Observe Trend of Public Sentiment

CHICAGO, March 13.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, is here to-day to establish his "listening post" with the purpose of observing the political sentiment of the nation. Conferences of party leaders will be held daily. Before his departure Chairman Hays will select a man to take charge of the Chicago headquarters.

"While we will look over the situation this week," Mr. Hays said, "the most important event probably will be the selection of the man to direct activities from here. Chicago is the nerve center of the nation, and our listening post here will be important."

During the day the national chairman was in conference with Colonel Frank L. Smith, state chairman, and Fred W. Upham, national treasurer. The purpose of this meeting was not made public.

St. Paul, Minn., has put in a bid for the national convention, but this is causing no worry here.

"Chicago as a bidder for the national convention always welcomes the competition," remarked Mr. Upham. "Rumors have been persistent that in the event of Mayor Thompson's reelection April 1 and his becoming a presidential candidate the convention might go elsewhere."

Prosecution Closes in the Trial of O'Leary

Inspector of Hulls Swears He Saw Defendant With Roediger at Mecca Restaurant

The prosecution in the trial of Jeremiah A. O'Leary, charged with violating the espionage act, rested yesterday, and the defense began its rebuttal. This probably will take three days.

Charles F. Martin, a United States inspector of hulls, was the chief witness for the state yesterday. He identified O'Leary as the man with whom he had seen Carl Roediger, now under indictment for treason, Martin testified that O'Leary and Roediger were together at the Mecca Restaurant, 161st Street and Broadway, in January, 1917.

Mr. Martin was cross-examined by O'Leary's attorneys. He was questioned at great length concerning the circumstances under which the witness had seen him at the Mecca Restaurant. At one point, when Martin admitted that he had made several mistakes in his direct testimony, O'Leary shouted:

"Don't you know, Mr. Martin, that this was a scheme of the Department of Justice to frame me in this case?" "No," the witness replied.

Frederick Abela, president of the corporation which controlled the Mecca Restaurant, who has testified that he saw O'Leary and Roediger together in the place, was also cross-examined.

Circus Is Coming to Town

Combined Barnum & Bailey, Ringling Show Due Soon

The circus is coming. This year it's Barnum & Bailey's and Ringling Brothers' combined. The date of its appearance at Madison Square Garden will be announced in a few days.

The circus prophet who hibernates in Bridgeport, Conn., and is a graduate of Winsted, in the same state, stroked his beard yesterday and soothed the clamoring metropolitan press with the forecast that the circus soon would shake the dust of Bridgeport from its feet.

Speaking frankly and simply, the circus prophet declared that "the colossus of all amusements is about to descend on New York in all its pomp and grandeur."

In proof of his frankness and simplicity he pointed out that the show which was coming was a merger of the "Greatest Show on Earth" and the "World's Greatest Shows." If that, pronounced the prophet complacently, didn't constitute "the Colossus of All Amusements," then what, in the name of suffering giraffes, did?

Civil Service Shake-Up Due To Burleson

Opposition to Postmaster General's Dictation Ended in Call for Resignations

Wilson Asked to Change Capital Hears Commissioners Did Not Approve "Looking Up" Office Holders

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Persistent efforts on the part of Postmaster General Burleson to dictate the method of examining candidates for postmaster positions were responsible for the recent shake-up in the Civil Service Commission, according to information obtained here to-day.

It was for the purpose of ending a protracted row between the commission and the Postmaster General, growing out of the activity of Mr. Burleson, it is declared, that President Wilson before returning to Paris called for the resignations of Commissioners Herman W. Craven and Charles M. Galloway, two of the three members of the commission.

Both Galloway and Craven, it is stated, opposed the efforts of Mr. Burleson. John A. McHenry, president of the commission, who is said to have sided with the Postmaster General, resigned several weeks ago to accept a position as financial adviser to the government of Haiti.

On March 31, 1917, President Wilson issued an executive order placing the first, second and third-class postmasters under the civil service rules, in the sense that candidates for any vacancies occurring from that time on in these postmaster positions would have to submit to competitive examination under the rules of the Civil Service Commission.

Republican Charges

At that time it was charged by Republican members of Congress that the purpose was to keep Democrats in these places. As the term of office of the postmasters was four years, it was then pointed out, the four years of Mr. Wilson's first term had given the administration ample time to load the executive order was put into effect.

In carrying out this order with respect to future vacancies, occurring, as the order stated, by reason of death, resignation or removal, for cause, the Civil Service Commission intended, it is stated, to use its customary rules for examination of candidates. The Postmaster General, it is declared, insisted, however, that as part of the examination the candidate should be "looked up" by a postoffice inspector, and that the report of the inspector should count 80 per cent. in the examination.

Commissioners Craven and Galloway are both said to have objected strenuously to this proposal on the ground that it was open to grave objection in the event that the inspectors sent out were inclined to favor more strength on the political qualifications of candidates than on other characteristics.

Ask Wilson to Act

With the resignation of Commissioner McHenry the situation was such that the commission was wholly in opposition to the Postmaster General, and a deadlock was threatened. Friends of the administration indicated to-day that all the facts in the controversy were not before the President when he was persuaded to call for the resignations of the remaining two commissioners, and for that reason friends of Commissioner Galloway, it is stated, have welcomed the President in an effort to have him withdraw his demand for Mr. Galloway's resignation.

Meanwhile, announcement has been made of the selection of Martin A. Morrison, of Indiana, to succeed Commissioner Craven, who severs his connection with the commission Saturday, and George R. Wales, of Vermont, to succeed Commissioner McHenry. It is understood that a Southerner has been chosen tentatively to succeed Mr. Galloway.

Hylan Police Bills Up in Legislature To-day

One Measure Aimed at the Election Law; Opposition Upstate Is Strong

ALBANY, March 13.—Two bills, introduced by the Hylan administration and calling for radical changes in Police Department procedure, will be introduced here to-morrow. They will probably have the support of all Tammany state Democratic legislators, but they will never pass, gives to the Police Commissioner discretionary power as to how many policemen he is to assign members of the Legislature, but will meet with strong opposition from many of the upstate men.

One of these measures, which an up-to-date polling booth. The election law provides that two patrolmen must be on guard. Many legislators state that this bill, if it becomes a law, would give free rein to "strong arm" methods at election time.

The other bill, which is also sure to meet with opposition, provides that a trial board of three uniformed members of the Police Department shall hear all cases against members where the penalty is fine or suspension. It cannot hear cases where the penalty is dismissal.

REMINDERS

How often have you come from a store and thought of one of the things you needed most, but had forgotten?

It is for exactly that reason, in the interest of good service, that our salespeople often courteously suggest other articles besides the ones you are purchasing

THE SAFE DRUG STORES

Liggett's

How often have you come from a store and thought of one of the things you needed most, but had forgotten?

Mann Defeats All Efforts to Cut His Power

Efforts of Liberals to Obtain Voice on G. O. P. Steering Committee Are Beaten

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The group of Republicans led by Representative James R. Mann, of Illinois, defeated an attempt to-day by Representative Royal C. Johnson, of South Dakota, to increase the Republican steering committee to nine members and to give representation to the more liberal wing of the party in passing on legislation which will come before the House at the next session.

Representative Johnson proposed at to-day's session of the committee on committees that the steering committee be increased to nine members and that Representatives Anderson, of Minnesota; Reavis, of Nebraska; Slep, of Virginia, and Nolan, of California, be given places on it. To this motion Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, objected, as also did Representative Mann and Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, who was nominated for the majority leadership Tuesday. The committee, which has been dominated by the Mann forces throughout all its proceedings, then rejected the proposal by a vote of 15 to 3.

Five States Urge Change

The states which favored the increased and liberalized steering committee were:

Ohio, 14 votes. Massachusetts, 12. South Dakota, 2. West Virginia, 5. Maryland, 3. The states which opposed it were:

New York, 24. Michigan, 12. Pennsylvania, 20. Wyoming, 4. Illinois, 22. Indiana, 13. Wisconsin, 10. Montana, 1. Rhode Island, 3. Idaho, 2. Colorado, 3. Minnesota, 8. Oregon, 3. New Hampshire, 2. California, 5. North Dakota, 3. Kentucky, 3.

The Steering Committee as at present constituted includes Representative Mondell, chairman ex-officio; Representative Dunn, of New York; Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania; Representative Winslow, of Massachusetts; Representative Longworth, of Ohio, and Representative Madden, of Illinois.

Chairman Mondell, under the rules, is merely a presiding officer and does not vote. This gives the Mann forces a clear working majority of the committee through the votes of Representatives Dunn, Moore and Madden. Representative Madden has had some differences recently with Mr. Mann, however, and may be found working with the two Gillett members of the committee. The steering committee will have its first meeting to-morrow.

Mann Heads Suffrage Committee

The committee on committees to-day designated Representative Mann as chairman of the Woman Suffrage Committee of the next House, and in accepting the assignment Mr. Mann promised to report out to the House "promptly" the woman suffrage constitutional amendment. Other members assigned to the committee were: Representative Little, of Kansas; Elliott, of Indiana; Nolan, of California; Edmunds, of Pennsylvania; Burroughs, of New Hampshire; Nelson, of Wisconsin, and McCrate, of New York.

After the close of the sessions of the committee to-day, Representatives Longworth and Johnson made public statements in which they expressed strenuous objections to the action of the committee in refusing to give the liberal group larger representation on the Steering Committee and in selecting Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, for majority leader.

Representative Longworth referred to the net result of the committee action as the "most complete triumph for reactionaries and reactionism. It is the most complete sort of triumph for reactionism."

"Even the final effort of some of us to enlarge and liberalize the Steering Committee, so as to secure representation upon it of the progressive sentiment of the West, of the states on the Southern border which substantially contributed to the Republican majority, and of labor, was defeated by the usual vote."

"If it had been deliberately planned to restore the conditions existing in the House ten years ago, as a result of which the Republican majority became a minority, the plan could not have been more successfully consummated. Then the leadership was held by Mr. Cannon, assisted by Mr. Mann, of Illinois; Mr. Dabzell, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, together with Mr. Payne, of New York, acting as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee."

Mann Called Real Leader

"Under to-day's arrangement the real leadership is held by Mr. Mann, assisted by Mr. Cannon, of Illinois; Mr. Mondell, of Wyoming, and Mr. Moore, of Pennsylvania, together with Mr. Payne, of New York, acting as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee."

"As I gaze upon these two pictures I find it impossible to differentiate between them. If there is any real difference it might lie in the views of the two chairmen of the Ways and Means Committee. After service on that committee with both for a good many years I am inclined to think that, as compared to Mr. Fordney, Mr. Payne was a rather advanced tariff reformer."

"It is idle to talk of Mr. Mann's declination of the crown, tendered him in elegant periods by Messrs. Mondell and Moore. All but the mere naked title remains in him as surely as though his brow was topped by its external evidence. It is his record and not that of the titular leader, dubious as it is on preparedness and war measures, which must be scrutinized and searched in determining whether the leadership of the next House of Representatives has been rightly placed."

Up to Republican Voters

"The Republicans of the country should know this situation. If they want Mr. Mann for leader of the House then let them instruct their Representatives to ratify the committee programme at the coming Republican conference. If they want some other leader, then let them instruct their Representatives to see to it that the programme is modified at least to the extent that control of the House organization be placed in the hands of men who have stood straight on preparedness and on war measures and who believe that the Republican party has progressed since 1910."

"We had a glorious opportunity, an opportunity, as I believe, to establish the Republican party completely in the confidence of the country. We have only partly met it in the selection of Mr. Gillett as Speaker. We still have another chance. Will we take it?"

Mr. Johnson said:

"In my opinion the committee on committees was absolutely fair in its choice of men for the standing committees of the House, and I do not believe that any individual was punished or discriminated against by reason of any vote cast on the speakership."

Wilson Asked to Change Capital Hears Commissioners Did Not Approve "Looking Up" Office Holders

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Persistent efforts on the part of Postmaster General Burleson to dictate the method of examining candidates for postmaster positions were responsible for the recent shake-up in the Civil Service Commission, according to information obtained here to-day.

It was for the purpose of ending a protracted row between the commission and the Postmaster General, growing out of the activity of Mr. Burleson, it is declared, that President Wilson before returning to Paris called for the resignations of Commissioners Herman W. Craven and Charles M. Galloway, two of the three members of the commission.

Both Galloway and Craven, it is stated, opposed the efforts of Mr. Burleson. John A. McHenry, president of the commission, who is said to have sided with the Postmaster General, resigned several weeks ago to accept a position as financial adviser to the government of Haiti.

On March 31, 1917, President Wilson issued an executive order placing the first, second and third-class postmasters under the civil service rules, in the sense that candidates for any vacancies occurring from that time on in these postmaster positions would have to submit to competitive examination under the rules of the Civil Service Commission.

Republican Charges

At that time it was charged by Republican members of Congress that the purpose was to keep Democrats in these places. As the term of office of the postmasters was four years, it was then pointed out, the four years of Mr. Wilson's first term had given the administration ample time to load the executive order was put into effect.

In carrying out this order with respect to future vacancies, occurring, as the order stated, by reason of death, resignation or removal, for cause, the Civil Service Commission intended, it is stated, to use its customary rules for examination of candidates. The Postmaster General, it is declared, insisted, however, that as part of the examination the candidate should be "looked up" by a postoffice inspector, and that the report of the inspector should count 80 per cent. in the examination.

Commissioners Craven and Galloway are both said to have objected strenuously to this proposal on the ground that it was open to grave objection in the event that the inspectors sent out were inclined to favor more strength on the political qualifications of candidates than on other characteristics.

Ask Wilson to Act

With the resignation of Commissioner McHenry the situation was such that the commission was wholly in opposition to the Postmaster General, and a deadlock was threatened. Friends of the administration indicated to-day that all the facts in the controversy were not before the President when he was persuaded to call for the resignations of the remaining two commissioners, and for that reason friends of Commissioner Galloway, it is stated, have welcomed the President in an effort to have him withdraw his demand for Mr. Galloway's resignation.

Meanwhile, announcement has been made of the selection of Martin A. Morrison, of Indiana, to succeed Commissioner Craven, who severs his connection with the commission Saturday, and George R. Wales, of Vermont, to succeed Commissioner McHenry. It is understood that a Southerner has been chosen tentatively to succeed Mr. Galloway.

Hylan Police Bills Up in Legislature To-day

One Measure Aimed at the Election Law; Opposition Upstate Is Strong

ALBANY, March 13.—Two bills, introduced by the Hylan administration and calling for radical changes in Police Department procedure, will be introduced here to-morrow. They will probably have the support of all Tammany state Democratic legislators, but they will never pass, gives to the Police Commissioner discretionary power as to how many policemen he is to assign members of the Legislature, but will meet with strong opposition from many of the upstate men.

One of these measures, which an up-to-date polling booth. The election law provides that two patrolmen must be on guard. Many legislators state that this bill, if it becomes a law, would give free rein to "strong arm" methods at election time.

The other bill, which is also sure to meet with opposition, provides that a trial board of three uniformed members of the Police Department shall hear all cases against members where the penalty is fine or suspension. It cannot hear cases where the penalty is dismissal.

REMINDERS

How often have you come from a store and thought of one of the things you needed most, but had forgotten?

It is for exactly that reason, in the interest of good service, that our salespeople often courteously suggest other articles besides the ones you are purchasing

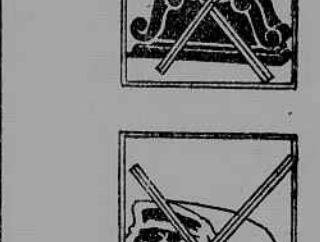

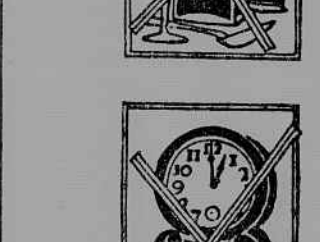

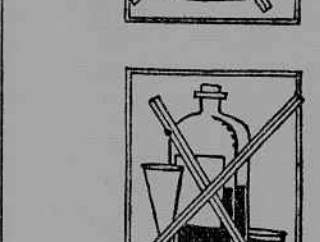

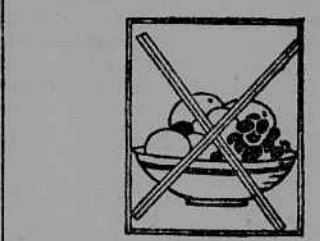

THE SAFE DRUG STORES

Liggett's

How often have you come from a store and thought of one of the things you needed most, but had forgotten?

HEINZ

OVEN BAKED BEANS

tempt the appetite

because they are really oven-baked, and have that delicious taste which only oven-baking gives.

cut down expense

because beans are just as nutritious as beefsteak and their cost is so small in comparison.

healthy and wholesome because we ought to eat less meat, which is easy to do if we have Heinz Baked Beans on the pantry shelves.

no trouble to prepare because putting the can in hot water fifteen minutes is all the preparation they need before serving.

plenty of nourishment because Heinz Baked Beans are hearty. They satisfy the appetite and build up the body. You can live well on them.

One of the 57

four kinds

ada has been very materially increased. Shipbuilding enterprises have been established, and this industry has launched suddenly into extreme activity. The Dominion is preparing to take its place as a larger exporter of the products of field, mine, forest, fisheries and factories. With the country facing a period of unparalleled opportunities for the extension of industry, the next quarter of a century is virtually certain to witness the pursuance of advantages gained in the last five years, and to see the claim made good of a position in the forefront of the nations.—The Toronto Globe's Seventy-fifth Anniversary Edition.

The Wilson label and the Wilson guarantee make these canned foods worth while

A partial list of Wilson Certified Brand products sold under our "money-back" guarantee

Sweet Corn	Corn
Green Peas	Chili Sauce
Tomatoes	Relishes
String Beans	Preserves
Beets	Peanut Butter
Pork and Beans	Mince Meat
Leaf Corn	Olives
Asparagus Tips	Sardines
California Peaches	Salmon
Hawaiian Pineapple	Ox Tongue
Cherries	Veal Loaf
Blueberries	Veal Sausage
Raspberries	Beef Sausage
Strawberries	Oleomargarine

OUR GUARANTEE

IF YOU ARE NOT SATISFIED THAT THE CONTENTS OF THIS CAN IS OF THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE QUALITY, YOUR DEALER WILL REFUND THE PURCHASE PRICE.

WILSON & CO.

WILSON'S Certified Brand

SUPERFINE SIFTED EARLY JUNE PEAS

Try our Wilson Certified Peas, for instance—realize at last that the garden freshness of plump green peas is maintained for your table. Try our Certified Pork and Beans—delicious at any meal. And our Certified Red Raspberries—with their luscious juice adding to their ripe sweetness. But whatever your favorite canned fruit or vegetable may be, ask your dealer for it under our Certified brand.

Should your dealer be unable to supply you, he can quickly be stocked from any of our branches.

Wilson & Co. Branches, carrying full line of products

Empire Mkt., N. Y. City Phone Chelsea 676-281	48-50 Tenth Ave.	Pacific St., Brooklyn, N.Y. Phone Prospect 2320-1	623 Pacific St.
W. Washington Mkt., N. Y. City Phone Chelsea 37	6 Grace Ave.	Wallabout Mkt., Brooklyn, N.Y. Phone Prospect 2320-1	202-214 Market Av-J
Manhattan Mkt., No. 1, N.Y. City Phone Greely 8847	34th St. & 11th Ave.	No. Sixth St., Brooklyn, N.Y. Phone Greenpoint 3600	108 No. Sixth St.
Manhattan Mkt., No. 2, N.Y. City Phone Greely 8847	607 W. 34th St.	Jamaica, L. I., N.Y. Phone Jamaica 2-516	Division St. and R. R. Ave.
Harlem Mkt., N.Y. City Phone Greely 8847	132nd St. and 12th Ave.	Mineola, L. I., N.Y. Phone Garden City 1314-1318	Mineola, L. I.
Westchester Mkt., N.Y. City Phone Melrose 5088-2416-2417	647 Brook Ave.	Jersey City, N. J. Phone Montgomery 3310-3311	671-673 Henderson St.
Barclay St., N.Y. City Phone Barclay 6545	125 Barclay St.	Newark, N. J. Phone 4868-4869	8 Lackawanna Ave.
Melrose Branch, N.Y. City Phone Melrose 5088-2416-2417	973 Brook Ave.	Paterson, N. J. Phone 4868-4869	212 Van Houten St.
45th St. Prov. Room, N.Y. City Phone Murray Hill 4800	45th St. and 1st Ave.	Stamford, Conn. Phone 174-175

The Wilson Label Protects Your Table